In preparation for the long journey that is ahead of us all, we must say goodbye to the friends and faculty that we have considered family for the past four years. This is not a final goodbye, as all of the knowledge, maturity and strength that we have gained at Salve will always remain with us. There is one member of our Salve family that has assisted in our growth in more ways than we will ever be able to acknowledge.

Hesiod once said, "In front of excellence the immortal gods have put sweat." Sister Sheila Megley's commitment to excellence clearly proves that she is not intimidated by the hard work that is necessary to achieve. The evidence of her devotion to higher learning in the Salve community can be seen in her many contributions to the college: the reinstatement of general education requirements, the computerization of the entire college, new programs of study, and the revitalization of existing buildings on campus. These are just a few of her accomplishments. Her most recent and greatest accomplishment is the construction of the new library in which she oversaw every phase.

Her accomplishments involve every aspect of the college life from administration, to academic, to the development of the institution. Her achievements have never been solely for the betterment of herself; her dedication efforts are to the students and her concern is for the students.

As so it is to the endless insight into the needs of students, and to the commitment to meet these needs, that we, the Class of 1991, gratefully dedicate this edition of the Regina Maris to Dr. Sheila Megley, RSM.

Lucille McKillop, RSM
Salve Regina College President

Dear Members of the Class of 1991:

Congratulations on producing this handsome yearbook, a splendid survey of your Salve Regina years!

This volume distills the essence of your campus experience, the life you shared together. Beyond all the academic hurdles, college years are ultimately people--those who made a difference in your collegiate career. Through picture and caption you meet here again your favorite teachers, classmates, sports teams, club colleagues, and close friends.

Your class has been through so much during four years together: the fun and laughter, days cloudy and bright, the rigors of the classroom, the thrills of discovery, and the pride of accomplishment. Yours have been the enriching relationships that distinguish a genuine community of caring and thoughtful young people.

Remembered joys are never lost. Like a time capsule, your yearbook preserves a special slice of campus history. Turning these pages over the years will bring back a flood of memories of what it was like to be a Salve Regina student toward the close of the 20th century.

The title of your yearbook aptly translates as "Queen of the Sea." I trust and pray that this treasured memento will ever recall for you the spirit and ideals of your own beautiful campus home, looking seaward on the cliffs of Newport from your own Salve Regina, asking the blessing of Mary as you say Salve, Regina Maris.

May God love you all.

In Memory Of

Brother John McNiff, F.S.C.

Everyone who has been touched by the life of Br. John McNiff has in turn been touched by a man with a gift; a gift of hope, a gift of wisdom and understanding of the human spirit. For many of us, he was a teacher. He taught us more than academia; he taught us to believe in ourselves and to have faith in other people. For some, he was a colleague who always faced the day with a smile and a funny anecdote of some kind. For others, he was a mentor, planting the seed that grew into a love of literature and of learning. For many, he was a guide. He took our hand and quietly led us in the right direction, always knowing when to let go. But for all of us, he was a friend, someone to talk to, someone to share a joke or a crisis . . . someone who will be sadly missed.

Br. John was fond of quoting Shakespeare's observation that "Cowards die many times before their deaths; The valiant never taste of death but once." He will be remembered, not only as our friend, but as a gentle man who would never back away from any challenge that life had to offer.

Dear '91 Seniors and Yearbook Staff,

I appreciate your kind invitation to include a message to you in your Salve Regina University Yearbook. As a group, and certainly as unique individuals, you were among the most thoughtful and considerate young people I have had the opportunity to work with while at Salve. Your senior year efforts and this yearbook give further evidence of the richness and diversity of talents, skills and experience which you developed and shared with us during your "Salve years."

I was a witness this past year to the wonderful cooperation and teamwork that the Regina Maris staff demonstrated in producing this book under the dedicated guidance of Barbara Blazer and Norval Garnett. There were days when I left the office with students working on the book and returned the next morning to find the same group at work once again. No staff in my time at Salve has been more dedicated. I thank the staff on behalf of everyone who now enjoys the fruit of your labor and congratulate you on your accomplishment.

Since your arrival at Salve as freshman, the Class of '91 was blessed with wisdom and always elected class officers who understood concepts such as "service", "responsibility" and "commitment." I would like to thank each one of you who served your class, this institution or the local community as an officer, club or committee member or participant in a program or organization that placed your "education in service to others." These efforts have made you richer persons and Salve a better place.

Perhaps my wish and that of all of us at Salve for you can be expressed best in the closing verses of the Prophet, written by Kahlil Gibran, Brian Holliday's favorite poet. He writes, "It was but yesterday we met in a dream. But now our sleep has fled and our dream is over, and it is no longer dawn. The noontide is upon us and our half waking has turned to a fuller day, and we must part. If in the twilight of memory we should meet once more, we shall speak again together. And if our hands should meet in another dream we shall build another tower in the sky."

May all your dreams come true - keep on building.

Best to all of you,

Dear Yearbook Staff,

What a great yearbook! You should be proud of this publication and the teamwork you demonstrated to prepare it. As I think back on the past year, I recount your success in developing the yearbook and would like to highlight the accomplishments you achieved. After all, you have come full circle, for you began last summer when you attended a yearbook workshop to begin planning, organizing, and learning to work together as the yearbook staff. Then, in September you began weekly morning staff meetings which I am sure no one has forgotten because attending eight a.m. meetings all semester was almost like having eight o'clock classes again.

As a staff and team and as individual section editors, you faced each challenge as you tried new and creative ideas to capture the year in pictures and to tell a story about Salve Regina College in 1991. You met these challenges which sometimes meant recognizing that ideas were not working as planned, scrapping what you had already done and starting over again. I applaud you for the dedication and team work you displayed in meeting those challenges.

This year's Regina Maris includes your fresh ideas: adding an organization section, expanding the student life section to include "Only in Newport" and dorm life, increasing senior participation in the senior portrait section, adding more copy, increasing yearbook publicity, fundraising campaigns and yearbook sales, including as many senior candid photos as possible throughout the book and raising the most money ever to allow you to add an additional eight pages of color. These ideas and accomplishments have enhanced the quality and presentation of the yearbook and provided you the opportunity to show when you worked together, the resulting product is better and depicts a broader spectrum of life at Salve.

Yearbook team, thank you for a terrific year and a superb book. I have thoroughly enjoyed working with you the past year as your advisor. I would like to thank Amy, Brian, and Marnie for returning after graduation to complete the book. Your dedication and the many hours you have continued to devote to proofing, editing, drawing layouts, and finalizing sections in order to bring the cycle to a close this June 1991 are appreciated.

Without a doubt, the 1991 Regina Maris is a quality publication of which each one of you can be proud, for the yearbook is the product of your hard work, commitment and creative energy. Cherish it, for it is truly yours: your work of art, your experience, and your creation.

Good fortune to each of you as you embark on your careers. I wish you well in all of your future endeavors.

With warmest regards,

Barbara Blazer

Salve Regina College

Salve Regina College, an independent coeducational college of arts and sciences, started its educational history in 1947 with a freshmen class of 58 students, an administration of five Sisters of Mercy and a faculty of eight Sisters of Mercy and one priest. Ochre Court was the only building, housing both the administrative offices and class rooms.

Today, the College has expanded to thirty one buildings, many of them nineteenth century mansions, all located on Newport's beautiful seacoast. The institution has experienced a steadily increasing enrollment from fifty eight to over two thousand students and now awards associates, bachelors, masters and doctorate degrees.

As of July 1st, 1991 Salve Regina College will officially be known as Salve Regina University.

Ochre Court

Ochre Court was built in 1888-1891 and was modeled after the French Chateau of the Middle Ages. Originally the building served as the summer residence for Ogden Goelet, but was later donated to Salve Regina in 1947. Today Ochre Court serves as an administrative building and houses offices, a chapel and rooms used for lectures, concerts and social gatherings.

Wakehurst

Wakehurst is almost an exact replica of Wakehurst Place, an Elizabethan House in Sussex, England and was designed by Charles Eamer Kempe. James H. Van Alen, the commissioner, was very specific on details of authenticity, and imported and reassembled the interior rooms to create the look of the antique. Now, the building is used as the campus center, housing a cafe, the campus mail room, a book store, student lounges and administrative offices for student services.

McAuley Hall

This summer cottage built for Mrs. Catherine Lorillard Wolfe was completed in 1882. The family sold the building and it became the main house on the Twombly Estate, who donated it to Salve Regina College in 1955. It was renamed after the first Sister of Mercy, Catherine McAuley and after many years of housing the College library, it is now being used as an academic and residence facility.

How exciting it is to finally see the fruit of our labor. A year of hard work has produced a masterpiece of carefully blended layouts, graphics, copy, color and pictures. The importance of your dedicated assistance to the staff team in the overall production of the Regina Maris is undescrivable.

This yearbook is a true work of art and we hope it will always be a symbol of dedication, commitment and lasting friendships.

We would like to thank our core staff for their dedicated work and patience:

Janet Olsen
Maureen Martinack
Carolyn Curtin
Erin Farrell

Moira Grogan
Beth Sharkey
Martina Ripanti
Amy Klopfer

A special thank you to Marnie Moore for staying after graduation to finalize the commencement section and to Nancy Lurie and Marc Piers for their time and effort in completing this yearbook.

For the contributions to make our yearbook very special we would also like to thank:

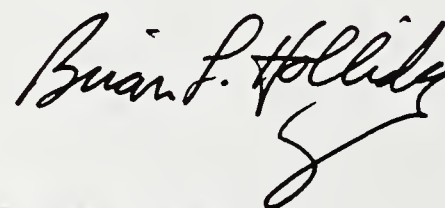

Joe Silvia
Melissa White
Joe Paradisio
Melissa Gabriellan

Janet Goglia
Lisa Lennon
Bill DeStefano
Chris Aloia

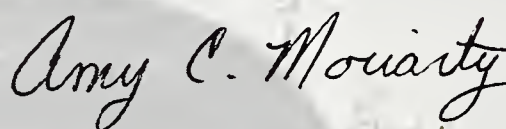

and especially John Rok, Barbara Blazer, and the Dean of Student Office, the Public Information Office, Jan Armor and Armor Photography, Norval Garnett Jr. and Jostens and all those seniors who sent in pictures to be used in the yearbook.

We enjoyed working with all of you and we wish you the best as you pursue your dreams.

Gratefully,

Brian L. Holliday

1987

Dear Newcomers to Salve:

It is my great pleasure to introduce you to the Salve campus community through the 1987 New Student Record. We do want you to know one another in true friendship and to win friendly recognition from our faculty, staff and returning students.

Your portrayal here together takes on special significance. Coming from varied locales and backgrounds, you now share a commitment to our Salve goals and expectations. Together you will gain the living experience of our intellectual and moral values--of genuine growth in mind and spirit.

In a few brief years we expect to see you pictured in the Senior Yearbook--but with a difference. These intervening years spell our challenge and opportunity. They should bring you to the threshold of self-confident maturity and professional competence. They are years when you will have time to work toward being your own best self and toward bringing forth the best in others. Determine to make the most of these precious years.

Your collective portraits further underscore that you are not alone in the intellectual, cultural, and spiritual adventure which represents a Salve education. In a true sense you have gained a new family, our campus community. We want to share your joy in learning, your delight in solid achievement, and even your problems and perplexities.

All of us--administrators, faculty, staff and students--are pledged to help, to counsel, to encourage, to inspire, and to pray for one another. Embrace wholeheartedly that family spirit, and Salve offers in return the opportunity for you to make these some of the most memorable and rewarding years of your lives.

Sister Lucille McKillop
Sister Lucille McKillop
President

This letter was addressed to the Freshman Class of 1987. It represents one of the first challenges presented to us by Sr. Lucille McKillop. That challenge was to pursue our "best self" and to take advantage of the four years ahead, to embrace Salve's mission, to experience growth of mind and spirit and to reach the threshold of self-confident maturity and professional competence. As a united class, and as individuals, we have met this challenge.

Sr. Lucille McKillop and the Class of 1991, this is the senior yearbook, and the pages that follow represent the changes that have come about over the past four years. As you turn the pages, smile and be proud as one does when looking through the family albums and reminisces of good times and treasurable moments. This Regina Maris is, in effect, a family album . . . . .

So,
Turn
The

And All Other Organizations/Activities

Students from all organizations at school strive to work together to preserve the traditions at Salve Regina College.

Salve Regina College like most other schools has their own Honor Society. Sigma Phi Sigma is the group noted for its members' scholarship, fidelity, and service to the College and its objective goals. Recently, their involvement with the Newport Community has risen to unexpected heights. Sigma members participated in their annual food drive for the Martin Luther King Center. Participation from members, as well as other students, made this year's "Feed A Friend" more successful than ever. With two days of intensive volunteer work, this event generated canned goods to supply needy families with provisions to last 'til Thanksgiving. An extensive and logical development of this program was the key to organizing such an engrossing and needed service. Though this deed was an unselfish act; those involved also gained something. New friendships were made and an overall positive attitude was inspiring to the volunteers. This is just one of the projects that the group hosts. Other participation in the Governor's Ball and phone-a-thons helps build the reputation of this prestigious organization.

The ADJ Club headed by President, Mark Solomon, was extremely busy this year, yet their first and most tiresome group act was hardly glamorous. On October 20th, 1990 members rolled out of bed in quest of trash patrol. Assuming that the day wouldn't be too exciting, yet a contribution to the Newport Community, inspired each student to NOT press that snooze button again, and throw themselves into the shower to shock the system into consciousness. Arriving at their destined clean-up site, the job began. With the sun shining and the gossip rolling about tales from the night's events, smiling faces attacked the littered Cliff Walk with a bounce in their step and zeal in their eyes. Finally finished, the group dispersed and reflected on a job well done, yet another shower was in demand. The ADJ Club events are always member participation oriented, which makes this group a good example of a "Community in Action."

Artist's Guild

The Artist's Guild at Salve has grown to new and exciting heights. Students have been involved in club fund raising efforts as well as volunteering time to work with other organizations such as the Theatre Department. In the 1990-1991 academic year, events at Mercy Hall have ranged from a variety of sorts. President, Edgar Hodge, (Hogie) has been working diligently with his staff and Advisor, Dan Ludwig, to generate projects and activities which allow art majors and other interested students to come together outside of the classroom. The recent success and appearance of a local band, Hot Head Evolution, created a fun and profitable atmosphere. Other happenings within the Art Department were the return of Jay Lacouture from his sabbatical during the fall and his turning over the reins to newly appointed Chairperson, Barbara Shamblin. Trips to New York, on campus guest lecturers, and Gallery openings upstairs in McKillop also took place during the year. Yet the most anticipated event of 1991 were the installations of each senior exhibition which really lets the Art Department "strut its stuff" for the campus to enjoy.

Also among the creative realms of campus clubs is the College Theatre Company. Dr. Bernard Masterson drills and nurtures his members' acting abilities. Past projects in 1991 included the play The Heiress. The show was performed on November 9th, 10th, 16th, and 17th as a nightly event, and November 11th, and 18th as a matinee performance. The company partook in other hands on learning activities such as the New England Theatre Conference which helped enhance preparations for upcoming auditions, and on April 12th the opening of Antigone was a smash. The group's year ending event included the 1st Annual Theatre Convocation on May 4th and the Senior Supper at Oceancliff on May 10th which recognized and saluted the club's graduating members.

Newport College Theatre Company

On campus, student government plays an instrumental role in the sponsorship of campus-wide activities, which include both academic and social events. A particularly successful joint effort provided the participants of the Rhode Island Marathon with an on-campus water station. To the runners' relief and surprise, supporters from Salve cheered and motivated them to continue their grueling race. Senate groups also hosted the New Year's Eve Celebration Dance, Halloween Dance, promotion of the underground, assistance with the preparation of special occasion dinners at the cafe (Thanksgiving and Holly Dinners), cookouts and concerts, and volunteered their time to Salve's fall open house. Organization and cooperation between the students and staff advisors have made the 1991 academic year a social success.

Student Nurse Organization

Salve Regina College's primal intention for opening was to build a successful and advancing nursing school. The Nursing Department at Salve is respected and demanding of its students, preparing them to be "their best selves." SNO is headed by Sr. Maureen Hynes and together with the club's president, vice-president, and secretary have forged new ground in this "medical care" organization. Projects and events sponsored by the group included blood drives, the Great American Smokeout, November 15th, guest lecturers with topics on career goals and technological advancements. In the past members have participated in bike-a-thons to benefit the local affiliated group of Rhode Island Hospice which cares for terminally-ill patients. The reputation and compassion of this organization is a merit to the school as well as the local community.

Orpheus Club

The Orpheus Club at Salve Regina College performs live and numerous throughout the year. Preparation for concerts are serious and exhilarating for the students, audiences and Br. James Loxham. There are many helpers involved with these events. Precision and creativity supplement these wonderful performances of each singing and instrumental group. Highlights of the 1991 year, included the October 12th Hunger Concert, November 16th Battle of the Bands, the December Chorus Christmas Concert, and other recitals throughout the spring semester. The Orpheus Club also travels to various musical competitions against rival colleges and universities. Music is a universal pleasure, and here at Salve, Br. Loxham polishes and cultivates each students' musical talent.

Senior Class Picnic

The Senior Class Picnic, held at Kempenaar's Clambake Club on May 4th, represented yet another chance for the graduating seniors to unite and have some extra fun and excitement.

The usual entourage of hamburgers, hot dogs, corn on the cob, watermelon, etc. were available and so was the "not-so-usual" beer. The pictures are proof of the various entertainment options, which included volleyball, horseshoes, badminton, and . . . sunbathing. "Did everyone have a wonderful time?" Well . . . count the smiles! The picnic was organized by the Senior Class Officers, the food was provided by Kempenaar's, the entertainment equipment by the College Activities Office and all this was topped by a beautiful, sunny day which was given to us by the Creator at no extra cost.

Dance Marathon

The 9th Annual Salve Regina College Dance Marathon, held on April 5th and 6th, raised approximately $1,500 for Island Hospice Associates. This organization is an affiliate of Hospice Care of Rhode Island and consists of an interdisciplinary program of supportive services. The Marathon lasted for 14 long hours and students danced in a race with time, fatigue and the occasional blister.

The dancers displayed a wide variety of costumes representing specific themes which included "Back to the Future", "Clash", "50's Bash", "Occupations", "Toga", "Island Jam", "Freedom Rock", "Western", and "Dress Salve." Each theme represented an opportunity for the dance couples to prove their creativity with self designed costumes to compete for more than 100 prizes. The two dancers that raised most money were Kim Boiani and Brian Holliday, who were each presented with a VCR for their efforts. Julie Nickerson and Brian Holliday were awarded "Most Enthusiastic Couple", while Keri Pearson and Sherri Catizone received recognition for winning either 1st, 2nd or 3rd place in six different categories.

Student Senates

The Student Housing Senate works independently but in cooperation with the Resident Assistants and the Residence Office to ensure and promote a safe learning environment within the College housing. The Housing Senate is composed of students who are elected annually from each of the Residence Halls. These students agree voluntarily to work with the RA's to promote and organize residence activities, such as cook-outs, dances, and other social events that enhance dorm unity.

The Student Life Senate is also elected annually and consists of class officers and class representatives who work together with their own officers to determine the needs of the College Community and attempt to meet these needs. The Life Senate is responsible for social activities such as the Dance Marathon and various other College-wide events that provide students with an opportunity to socialize, entertain themselves with live or DJ tunes or just have a great time.

Honor Societies

Sigma Phi Sigma, the National Mercy Honor Society, and Sigma Delta Pi, the National Spanish Honor Society, annually hold induction ceremonies for students of outstanding scholarship who have also successfully maintained a balanced social and extracurricular lifestyle. Students nominated and inducted are known among the faculty, staff and community as individuals of fidelity, scholarship and community service.

From a distance, we all have enough, and no one is in need.

And there are no guns and no bombs
and no disease,
no hungry mouths to feed.

From a distance, we are instruments,
marching in a common band,
playing songs of hope,
playing songs of peace,
they are the songs of every man.

Summer Orientation

Orientations are held several times throughout the summer in order to allow new students and their parents to become acquainted with the Salve Regina Campus, the Dean of Students staff, the residence staff, the resident assistants, and of course, the other new students and their parents.

Summer orientation is an integral part of any new student's transition from high school or the work environment to the college community. During orientations, students and parents are introduced to the faculty and staff, registered for classes and familiarized with the mission and objectives of the college.

Blessing Of The Fleet

At Fort Adams State Park, Father Raymond McNicholas (above) blesses the Salve Regina College 420 Sailing Fleet during a ceremony that took place early in September of 1990.

The ceremony was attended by faculty, staff, administrators, students and of course, the Salve Sailing Club. Sister Esther Whalen and Mr. Dwight Webb, the sailing club advisors, organized the ceremony which concluded with the launching of the fleet for a day of "fun in the sun."

On the right, Sailing Club members prepare for the launching and below, it is assumed that our photographer was not the only one remaining to witness the last sailboat racing towards the horizon.

Winter Wonderland Dance

The Winter Wonderland Dance was held on January 26, 1991 in the Great Hall of Ochre Court, and was attended by a crowd of over 400. It was organized and executed successfully by the joint efforts of The Student Life, Student Academic and Student Housing Senates as well as the College Activities office. Live entertainment was provided by the Savage Brothers Band from Connecticut, and the dress was semi-formal. At midnight (right), the dancers were showered with balloons that had been suspended by a net over the Great Hall.

The combined efforts of the senates and the Activities office were most appreciated as the Winter Wonderland Dance proved to be a wonderful and exciting event for all who attended.

Halloween Memories

Senior Boat Cruise

September 25, 1990, marked the night of the fall Senior Boat Cruise for the Graduating Class of 1991. This successful event was attended by over 200 seniors and is annually coordinated by the class officers and the College Activities office.

The boat cruise marks the first chance where seniors can gather together as a whole to re-establish their sense of unity as the Graduating Class of 1991.

The boat cruise, traditionally dubbed the "Senior Booze Cruise," is far more than just a chance for seniors to drink together. Rather, it represents a chance for seniors to reinforce their sense of class unity via socializing, dancing to the tunes of a DJ, and enjoying the evening view of Newport Harbor.

As the Spirit of Newport docks at the end of the night, the seniors have re-established their sense of unity and have grasped some of the exciting and perhaps not-so-exciting realities that lie ahead in 1991.

With the feelings of excitement and apprehension that often accompany the graduating seniors, the boat cruise annually is an appropriate time for seniors to say, "I've made it this far; I know I can make it 'till May."

ACTIVITIES FAIR

The College Activities Office annually hosts and coordinates the Activities Fair, which was held on September 19, 1991 on the Wakehurst Campus Center grounds.

The Fair allows the various student senates, clubs, sports teams, and organizations to maintain a table with representatives who present information about their group's respective purposes and objectives.

The Fair is an opportunity for the college community to witness the activities, plans, and membership of the various groups and, most importantly, how one may become involved!

As the new and returning students begin classes and adjust to their living arrangements, the Activities Fair becomes the perfect opportunity to witness the broad area of extracurricular activities that Salve offers. Getting involved with non-academic related activities is crucial to any student striving to become their "best self." The Salve community works hard and together at encouraging and supporting these various extracurricular activities as they reside at the core of this college's philosophy.

Dorm Life

Dorm life is a major part of a college student's life. The dorm is a place where friends are made, homework is done and the place you call home even if it for just a short while.

All freshmen arrive at their dorm in hope of finding the perfect roommate and a lifetime friend. By your senior year and through the sharing of good times and bad, you form friendships that will last forever. Upon graduation one of the hardest things to do is to say good-bye to the roommate that took care of you when you were sick, consoled you when times were tough and shared the special times such as, Spring Weekend, Cotillion, Friday and Saturday nights out on the town and most of all graduation.

A Dream Come True

Fifteen years ago, it all started as a vision of increasing academic excellence for the future of the College. On March 25, 1991, the dream became a reality. The new Library is a culmination of the hopes and dreams of the College Regina College community and is an important milestone in the history of the College.

The architecture reflects the symmetry of the 19th Century design of the historic campus center. The new Library is designed to expand with the needs of the College community and the future. The building features the application of efficient study activities and offers students and the general public an extensive reference and periodicals collection, an expanded general collection, a digital visual department, an archives collection, expansive study areas, and private rooms for group study and research activities.

The class of 1994 has embraced the warm welcome of Salve Regina College. September brought changes into the lives of new students. Each freshman, left home in search of the knowledge needed to fulfill career aspirations and childhood dreams. This information created a wider perspective on people, places, and unfamiliar situations.

Accepting the challenge of independence, will strengthen the yearning to live "the good life." Our education will lead us down that proper path, and our days at Salve Regina College will provide us with the fundamental values that will guide us to our destinies.

With new friends made and new experiences shared, Freshmen year has become an unforgotten chapter in a students' book of firsts. The realization of the many avenues of life, has become the focal point of our minds. The realization of "new beginnings" is here.

For the class of 1991, we wish you great hope and happiness in your "new beginnings"!

And a youth said, Speak to us of Friendship.
 And he answered, saying:
 Your friend is your needs answered.
 He is your field which you sow with love and reap with thanksgiving.
 And he is your board and your fireside.
 For you come to him with your hunger, and you seek him for peace.
 When your friend speaks his mind you fear not the "nay" in your own mind, nor do you withhold the
 "aye".
 And when he is silent your heart ceases not to listen to his heart;
 For without words, in friendship, all thoughts, all desires, all expectations are born and shared, with joy that is unclaimed.
 When you part from your friend, you grieve not;
 For that which you love most in him may be clearer in his absence, as the mountain to the climber is clearer from the plain.

And let there be no purpose in friendship save the deepening of the spirit.

For love that seeks aught but the disclosure of its own mystery is not love but a net cast forth: and only the unprofitable is caught.

And let you best be for your friend.

If he must know the ebb of your tide, let him know its flood also.

For what is your friend that you should seek him with hours to kill?

Seek him always with hours to live.

For it is his to fill your need, but not your emptiness.

And in the sweetness of friendship let there be laughter, and sharing of pleasure.

For in the dew of little things the heart finds its morning and is refreshed.

The Women's Soccer Team, under the new leadership of Lynn Sheedy and Assistant Coach George Denney had a very positive season. Their record 5-10 (improved over last season 1-11-1) shows that the team is "on the upswing", according to Coach Sheedy. A great accomplishment of the team was winning the Commonwealth Coast Conference Championship. It was the first time women's soccer was recognized by the conference and Salve won. "It was an upset!" stated Coach Sheedy. Katie Burke, a freshman, received M.V.P. of the Tournament, for her outstanding play as a forward. The last home game for the Lady Newporters was a grand highlight. The game against Clark University was truly a triumph. Salve was down 1-0 at the half and played hard during the second half and won 2-1. For the seniors, Nicole Bernabo, Martina Ripanti, Barbara Egan, and Deborah Nicholson, this was a great way to end their season. Coach Sheedy wanted the girls to "demonstrate hard work, dedication, and pride for the game; and they did".

Coach Sheedy gives words of wisdom: Come on guys, lets beat this team!

Salve's Soccer Season A Success

The men's soccer team finished up their fall season with a 7-10 record, an impressive second most wins at Salve. The team also broke the old goal record of 29 by achieving 32. Keith Cory coached the "very young team" consisting of mostly freshmen and sophomores and one junior, and he was assisted by Bob Boergesson. Cory says "it was a difficult year because of the number." While the game requires eleven players, the Newporters only had fourteen, and at one point twelve due to injuries. Despite the low numbers, the players benefited by receiving a lot of playing time.

Salve's soccer team is a part of the NCA division 3 and the ECAC division 3 which extends from Maine to Virginia. The Newporters made it to the Commonwealth Coast Tournament where Salve lost to Curry 1-0, a good effort considering there were only twelve players.

The players they did have were indeed hard workers. Scott Sullivan, a sophomore, led the team in scoring with 20 points which tied the school record. Josh Keller was also an important contribution because "He's probably the best all around athlete in the school . . . one of those guys who could do anything." The best skilled player, according to Cory, was sophomore Brian Meade who was all time point leader for the season with 26. Freshman Linus Murphy should be commended for setting the new single game scoring record of seven points. Scott Sullivan, a forward, made first team all conference, and Jeff Dehainut, goalkeeper, was named to the second team.

Anselm Richards and Barbie Lombard rig their new 420 before taking it on its first sail.

The 1990 Salve Sailing Team got off to a great start with the Blessing of the Fleet Ceremony in September which introduced ten new 420 series Vanguard racing sailboats. After "Two very dismal, lean years," the new boats and enthusiastic team participated in five regattas and are "looking forward to a terrific spring."

Dwight Webb is coach of the sailing club, assisted by Wade Aust, a professional sailor who "has coached Olympic teams." Club advisor, Sr. Esther Whalen, has the goal in mind of "hosting a major regatta in the spring with nine to ten other colleges."

Salve's team is a member of the New England Intercollegiate Racing Association Southern Series along with other schools from Boston to New Haven such as Brown University, U.R.I., Roger Williams, and Providence College.

Cold but proud, Tom P., Jeff B., Jeff E., Kathleen G., Michela M., Trish F., and Barbie L. pose after a regatta.

In the heat of the moment, Kevin Gydus and Jim Miller are surrounded by fellow teammates as they make their kill.

Using all his might and speed, Eddy Crooks outruns the opposing team to score for Salve.

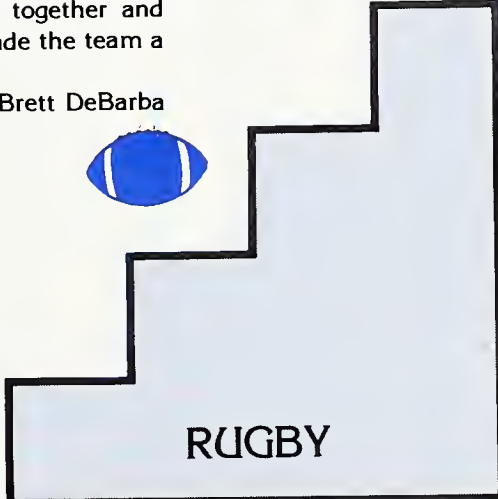

It all started our sophomore year when a group of guys with a love for hard hitting, competition, and a high tolerance for pain got together to form the Salve Rugby Club. They may have lacked a winning season the first time out, but what they lacked in skill, they more than made up in spirit.

Over the past two years the team has seen two highly successful seasons. Persistence has paid off for original members of the team who are now seniors: Eddy Crooks, Brett DeBarba, George Fraley, Jim Miller, Phil Morone, Paul "Griz" Naughton, Mike Negrón, Sean Oakley and Stephan Sloan. Other members of the team are: Warren Callis, Marc Cople, Mike Cox, Dominic DiPiero, Kevin Doyle, Mike Farley, Brian Flynn, Pete Gangas, Ryan Maccione, Paul McQueery, Joe Nole, Tom Palka, Lawrence Rossetti, and Doug Steele.

"The best thing about the team is that we not only played together, but we also worked together and helped each other out. That's what made the team a success."

-Brett DeBarba

A Season Of Aces

The 1990 Salve Women's Tennis Team enjoyed a successful season. With a 9 and 2 record, the Lady Newporters proved themselves once again to be a strong team.

The team kept busy hosting the R.I. Association for Women's Intercollegiate Athletics Tournament on our home courts and the 17th Annual Women's Double Grass Court Tournament at the International Tennis Hall of Fame. The Lady Newporters placed third in both tournaments. Other tournaments included the Rolex Regional Tennis Tournament at William Smith College. The four top players, senior Nancy Lee Paris, junior Christi Linski, sophomore Allison Camerato, and freshman Courtney Bintner proved themselves to be strong players in their first appearance at this tournament.

Salve Women's Tennis ended their winning season by capturing the title at the second annual Commonwealth Coast Conference Tournament.

Keeping her eye on the ball, Nancy Lee Paris uses all her might to return it.

After a long, hot match, Courtney Bintner shows fatigue as she walks off the court.

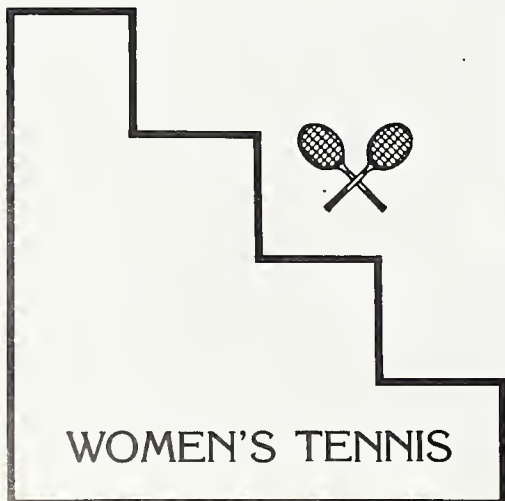

Tired but proud, Diane Kane rests after a long, hard match.

Although the Salve Women's Cross Country Team is not in a conference, they participated in three invitationals during their 1990 fall season.

A second and third at the Regis Invitational led Salve to Victory while the La Selle Invitational saw Salve taking the first three places with runners April Davies, Kelly Urbanowicz, and Angela Mazza. Kelly Urbanowicz captured first at the S.M.U. J.V. Division leading Salve to its third victory.

Coach Mick Klitzner was "happy with the young runners" and classified the season as "very successful."

Unfortunately, the men's team was not able to participate in championship races due to the small number. Glen Whitehead, Manny Castro, Marty Arnold, and Robert Sasserville accompanied the women providing moral support, and gave Salve the first men's team in two years.

Jeff Dunphy shows that Nike Air's really do work.

This year's Salve Regina College's Men's Basketball team had five starters returning and the team's sixth man. These players included John Malvey, Forward and a senior, Jeff Dunphy Guard and a senior, Steve Soba, Forward and a junior, Eric Lehane, Guard, and a sophomore, and Peter Lynch, Center and a sophomore. And the "sparkplug of the team", Roger Oliveria, Guard and a senior, was the sixth man off the bench.

Their main inside force during the season was Steve Soba who provided the team with the best All-time Single Season Point Scoring Leader (441 points) as well as a top rebounder for the team.

John Malvey was listed as third All Time Leader in points (157 points) for the season. He also had the highest score for three-point shots for the season. Jeff Dunphy holds the career high for three-point shots. Roger Oliveria was a player who could come onto the court and get everyone motivated to get that steal or shot or the team spirits up again. He was named Senior Scholar-Athlete of the Year and was this year's leader in assists and steals.

A big highlight for the men was their last game of the season against Anna Maria College. Anna Maria had won the Commonwealth Coast Conference Tournament and Salve came in fourth place. The thrill of the last game was that Salve beat Anna Maria in an exciting head to head game. What a way to end the season guys! Congratulations!

Two against one isn't fair, but John Leys shows no distress as he gets his stick in there to block a shot by the Rams.

Senior Steve Jacques aims to shoot the puck into the opponent's net, while the opposition quickly approaches from behind.

On Saturday nights the Salve campus thins out, not home-ward bound, but just on a five minute journey to St. George's Ice Rink in Middletown. The frigid temperatures do nothing to diminish the enthusiasm and support of the fans, especially now that Salve has moved up to Division I of the Northeast Collegiate Hockey Association, this after having been the two-time Division II champions.

Salve's start was indeed challenging and a rough one; they lost their first five games. But something should be remembered; the Newporters won their first league game for Division II in five years, but it took just five games to do the same in Division I!

This season was an all new game for the Newporters. Salve had to get used to playing three twenty minutes periods instead of 15, 15, and 20 like last year. They also learned they couldn't afford to make mistakes against Division I teams. Their opponents were of higher quality; bigger, faster, and better with the puck. But the Newporters had their own assets. The small, speedy team started off with a defensive style, not afraid to mix it all up and push opponents all over the ice.

As the season wore on, Salve started to stay in position and get more scoring opportunities. Salve's first win in early December was against Bryant. Falling behind 2-0 in the first period, Salve recharged themselves and aggressively scored five goals in a nine minute span in the second period, finishing out the game with a 6-4 win. The Newporters toppled another three teams and finished their first Division I season with an impressive 4-6 overall record.

Salve is a young team with seven starting freshmen. With the players' dedication and the support from Salve, who can question Coach Farrea's promise, "When we win this (Division I) and we will win this, then I will ask to move up." For now though, Division I is a nice place to be, especially for the seven seniors who were able to finish up their Salve years, reaching all the goals they set out to achieve.

Surrounded by the opposition, Salve charges full speed ahead and attempts to get a goal.

Jared Martin stops the puck in mid-air and gets ready to take it down to the other end in hopes of a goal.

Sue Rasmussen is waiting to get a rebound.

The Women's Basketball Team had three returning seniors, one junior, and numerous sophomores and freshman, all of which Coach Bernie Norman was looking forward to learn their talents and skills. As Coach Norman's first year as the Women's Basketball coach, he knew he could bring success to the team after a successful time at his previous job.

Lisa Bell proved to be the major pull behind the team. She led the team with points and steals. Lisa is known for her aggressiveness on the court. "She's not afraid to stick her nose into anything," according to Coach Norman.

A great influence for the team was sophomore Monique Suttles. She had many a strong game and many points. She will be a big asset to the team for her remaining years at Salve.

Another senior, Sue Rasmussen, who has played basketball only two years at Salve, has been a big help on the defense end of the game. She was one of the top offense and defense rebounders.

Their season was downfalled when Curry College knocked Salve out of the Commonwealth Coast Conference Tournament. But with strong players returning next year, they are sure to be a smash!

Lisa Bell awaits a referee's call.

The team is getting ready to leave for an away game.

CHEERLEADERS

"We knew it would be our trial season and we would have to start from scratch. Well, it paid off. We formed a good squad, worked for new uniforms, and most important, "Iced, Iced Baby" our way to recognition."

Keirsten Dalton and Amy Ventresca -
Basketball

From the sidelines, Captain Keirsten Dalton gives a smile as Salve scores another basket.

The hockey cheerleaders can't go on the ice and make a pyramid, but they do a fine job of making their presence known, despite the fact that many of the fans can't even see them. Their trade-mark: wooden blocks and the plexiglass walls around the rink. With blocks in hand and voices ready, the blocks start banging, feet begin stomping, and the cheers keep coming.

The squad is a young one without any seniors, which promises only a more successful and supportive cheering season for next year.

This past season was just as exciting for the cheerleaders as it was for the players. Moving up to Division I put a lot more hype and enthusiasm into the game. "We had to think of more cheers to keep up the spirit," said junior Carrie Barboza. The new division meant tougher games and more losses, but the ladies were there to keep up the faith with lots of cheers and support.

"Last year the hockey team won the championship. Everybody was used to them winning so when they played in the new division, our hopes were high. They didn't do as well as everybody hoped and wished, but throughout the season we kept our spirits up and gave our support."

The Salve basketball cheerleaders, led by Captains Keirsten Dalton and Amy Ventresca, got together with their squad, and along with the help of advisor Megan French, got down to business.

The cheerleaders began working right when school began and practiced everyday. "We started from scratch," Keirsten said, "with new uniforms and more dedication and practice." It all paid off and the cheering Newporters certainly provided Salve fans and players with entertainment and support done in a very impressive manner. The hard work was certainly evident; synchronized, enjoyable, and well-planned. The trademark for the basketball cheerleaders was a five minute dance to the music of Vanilla Ice's "Ice, Ice Baby." But there's nothing cold about these women. With such a young, dedicated squad who have hopes of attending cheerleading camp this summer, it will be no surprise when the cheerleaders climb to the top. Three cheers for you!

MEN'S TENNIS

Congratulations go out to the men's tennis team for claiming the Commonwealth Coast Conference title for the first time. Coach Jerri DiCamillo, after six years of coaching, felt "This is one of the strongest teams we've had here." And nothing could be farther from the truth.

It was a very good season for the nine member team, who had a good response from the underclass, and even a graduate student. Newcomer Sean Brown, a sophomore transfer from Concordia College in New York holds the no. 1 singles slot.

The team finished the season with an impressive 5-7 record. As Coach DiCamillo put it, there were close losses near the end or otherwise it would have been a winning record. Those close 5-4 battles were against Curry and Nichols.

The winning clinch came when Josh Keller and John Leys captured the Commonwealth Coast Conference tournament by beating Roger Williams 22 points to 2 in the event which featured five singles and one double flight. Senior Kevin Hickey should also be commended for he was the only Newporter to win a singles match against undefeated CCRI. That match earned him his sixth win of the season. Great job men! You certainly have proven your LOVE for the game.

With racquet in air and eye on the ball, Chris Urbano gets ready to send the ball back to his opponent during a practice game.

Using all his might, Josh Keller clearly displays the meaning of the words 'giving it your all.'

Bryan Noonan did not get the ball in time to make a play at third base.

"We're going to have to work for our runs. We're not going to have too many big innings with the long ball." Coach Andy Andrade made this statement at the beginning of the season. Salve's overall record was 15-15 but came in first place in the Commonwealth Coast Conference. For this young team, they made out fairly well.

The team relied mostly on their pitching staff which consisted of co-captain, Bill Sampson and junior Steve Soba, along with Mark Solomon, Anselm Richards, Mike Flanagan, Tom Balboni, Mike Connolly, Robert Winkler, and Dennis Anderson.

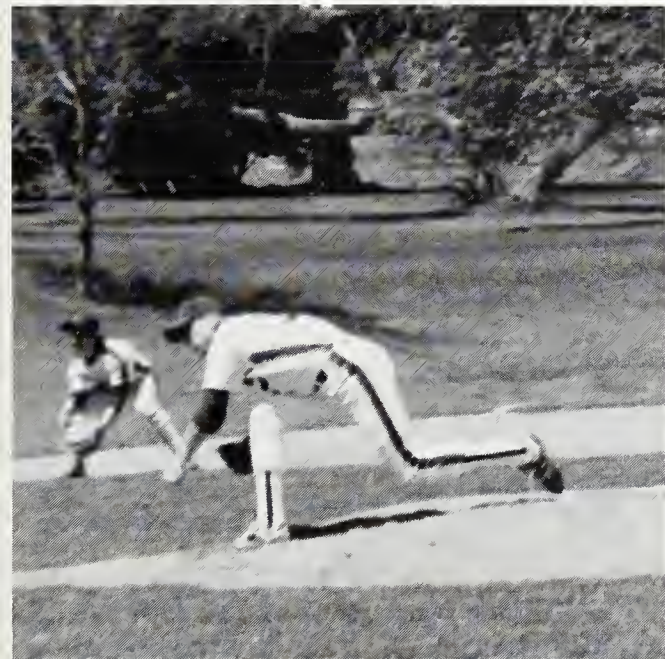

However, Salve's offense was better than expected. Junior Danny Sullivan led the team with runs and a batting average of .358. Freshman, Jimmy Minton, led the team with hits and second with runs batted in. Steve Soba also assisted the team with hitting the most home runs for the team and runs batted in. Bryan Noonan, who can only play one season at Salve, was the "good egg" of the team and assisted the team in various cases, both offensively and defensively.

In general, Coach Andrade said it was a successful season. Being Commonwealth Coast Conference Champions again was definitely a highlight. It was our "best playing" of the season according to Andrade. The most thrilling game was against their unofficial rival school, Curry. Salve won 11-9 after 11 innings.

Warming up for the upcoming inning is Tara Lucchesi.

As Coach John Dias looked upon his team, he realized it would be a "coaching season". The team was young. It included seven freshmen, two sophomores, five juniors, and only one senior. However, Coach Dias was pleasantly surprised at how well the team played. Five of the seven freshman started and for the senior of the team, Lisa Dellaquila, she played five different positions throughout the season. Lisa had a great year and was responsible for "the most cohesive group I've worked with" according to Coach Dias.

Salve's final record was 8-16 but they were third in the conference. Most of their games came down to one play or within two runs. Injuries early in the season is what hindered the team. Two of the leading players were out at the start of the season. Sarah Kendall, one of the star pitchers, was out with a knee injury and Kerri Carle, short stop, obtained a sprained ankle and sun poisoning. However, other players made up for Sarah's and Kerri's absence: Shannon Dugan, centerfielder, was lead hitter with a batting average of .400 and she played every inning of every game; Sarah Kenyon, left fielder, had eight assisted outs from the outfield and only three errors the entire season; Jodi Aissi played fast pitch for the first time this season and played second base, third base and short stop, and Donna Latham was strong at the bat and a hard worker.

During the Commonwealth Coast Conference Tournament, strong pitching was a key factor. Lisa Dellaquila had an almost perfect game and retired twenty-one straight batters against Wentworth. Sarah Kendall pitched four perfect innings against New England College.

For such a young team, they did a fine job. Good luck to the team next year.

"I couldn't have had a better group of teammates for my last season. It was a lot of fun." -Lisa Dellaquila

TRACK & FIELD

"With the strong leadership of Karen Luchun the Salve girls track team worked hard to have a great season. Striving together as a group we managed to develop into athletes and friends."

Eighteen young women began their hard work under the training of Coach Mick Klitzner and Assistant Keith Cory for the 1990 track and field season. The sport of track and field hold a variety of different events such as javelin, hurdles, shot put, high jump, discus, and meter runs. The young team, made mostly of freshmen, sophomores and juniors, got down to business at the apple-orchard track and field, learning, practicing, and getting better. Soon after, the records started breaking. Karen Luchun set the new school record in the javelin throw, Tracy Carter set a new record in the discus, and Eileen Scanlon broke Luchun's old record with a 119' 7" throw before Luchun reset the record.

The season ended with ten of the women qualifying for the New England Championships and five for the ECAC Out Door Championship in Ithaca, N.Y., May 11-12. Special highlights go to Karen Luchun who is going to the National Championships for javelin. Luchun, who took up the javelin senior year in high school, became training

Not as easy as it looks, throwing takes much preparation, technique, and practice. It is this kind of accuracy that sends the javelin one hundred feet into the distance.

partners with her friend Eileen Scanlon, and together they pushed each other to do their best. "It's dedication and technique," Luchun said. "It's one of those sports you have to do for yourself. It's all up to you." Luchun hopes to throw around the 130 mark. "I have to be realistic. Next year I expect to be competitive in the nationals."

Klitzner said the entire Salve team has benefited from Luchun's success. "She's an uplifting positive force, not only to herself, but to the whole team. Everyone has set their sights higher." Congratulations on a job well done!

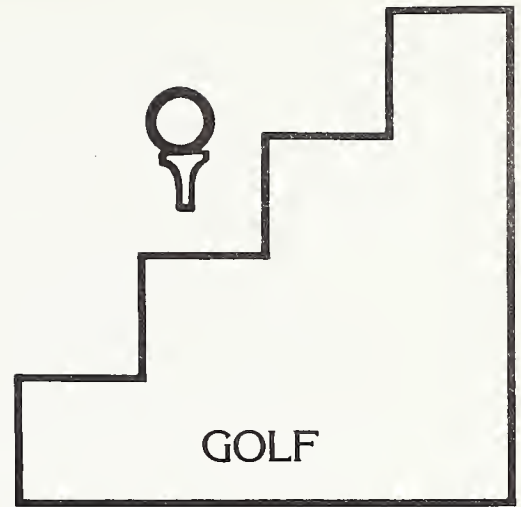

Throwing the javelin was something Karen began her senior year of high school. Mick Klitzner adopted her at Salve and began to work with her.

Craig Aumann demonstrates good form as he watches his ball soar through the air, hoping for a hole in one.

"Four!" yells Rich Boldrighini as he prepares to launch the ball over the fairway and onto the apron.

Is that a sign of fatigue, frustration, or just intense concentration? Smile at least your ball didn't end up in the middle of a pond.

The Salve Regina Golf Team entered into its 11th year of competition this season. Led by Coach Bill Campbell, an excellent golfer himself, the squad was divided into a fall and spring team in order that all those interested would be able to participate. The spring season was led by Senior John Blute, and Rich Boldrighini, and Juniors Chris Wihbey and Paul Costello. Newcomer Jack Kayajan (Sr.) was a welcome addition to the team.

Wanumetonomy Golf course was the sight of many practices, and as Coach Campbell stated, "If the dedication and practice ethic is concentrated on throughout the season, Salve may surprise their much more talented opponents." Such golfing rivals and programs were Division I URI, Brown, and Northeastern, Division II Bryant, and strong Division III programs SMU, Nichols, and RWC.

Although the season was a tough one without any victories, the competitions did aid the team in tournament experience and the team should be congratulated for all their effort, hard work, and time. Special Congratulations go to John Blute who received the Coach's Award.

With a young, active squad of five underclassman and two juniors, the future could be a promising one. More players, hard work, and support from Salve could definitely lead the Salve Golf Team to unparalleled excellence.

Don't Ever Stop Dreaming Your Dreams

Don't ever try to understand everything - some things will just never make sense.
Don't ever be reluctant to show your feelings - when you're happy, give into it!
When you're not, live with it.
Don't ever be afraid to try to make things better - you might be surprised at the results.
Don't ever take the weight of the world
on your shoulders.
Don't ever feel threatened by the future -
take life one day at the time.
Don't ever feel guilty about the past - what's done is done. Learn from any mistakes you might have made.
Don't ever feel that you are alone - there is always somebody there for you to reach out to.
Don't ever forget that you can achieve so many of the things you can imagine - imagine that! It's not as hard as it seems.
Don't ever stop loving,
don't ever stop believing,
don't ever stop dreaming your dreams.

Dag Hammarskjöld's words, "The longest journey we make is the journey inward," are beautiful and poetic. We take them seriously and set out on that journey. When we do, we discover that this journey is made only with great personal investment. While admitting that we need human companionship on that journey, we realize that, in many ways, we make it alone. With this emphasis on our need for a sign that reads: "The new frontier of the space age: INNER SPACE." It took our scientists and technologists a long time to develop the sophisticated equipment that put a man on the moon. The astronauts who ventured there showed a personal discipline and a grueling training that defy simple description. But, even in space travel, there are instruments that measure direction. There are indicators of how far along that journey the ship and its passengers have come. When we journey in inner space, we are in uncharted and unchartable territory. Any direction and charting remain somewhat unclear. While we make the journey we understand the importance of companionship. We understand what Gustav Thibon, a French philosopher, meant when he said that when we walk alone, we hardly know if we are climbing. But, almost infallibly, when we give our hand to someone, we immediately know the difference. There are friends in whose presence we can only climb. There are others whose influence weighs us down. It is true that, in order to know well where we are going, we must not walk alone. And, to see most clearly, we must walk with a sense of commitment and trust in the one with whom we walk.

We have had the experience of a conversation on an airplane where we were engaged, either at our initiation or someone else's, in a level of sharing that later surprised us. We wonder why it was so easy to give such confidence to a stranger. We may even be disappointed that we shared something that we have not shared with a friend. We may have put words around some experience that we have never before been able to verbalize. This is surprising only until we remember that strangers ask nothing of us. When the plane lands, the sharing is finished. We walk away from that person, and most often, never see him or her again. Ongoing risk and personal involvement are seldom asked. Refreshing and helpful as such encounters may be, they are not the stuff of which continuing self knowledge is made. Neither are they basic to the fabric of faithful friendship. It is in our ongoing commitment to frame our inner journey in words which we share in friendship that self-discovery happens and friendship deepens.

Life's Lessons

After a while you learn the difference between holding a hand and chaining a soul. You learn that love isn't leaning but lending support. You begin to accept your defeats with the grace of an adult, not the grief of a child. You decide to build your roads today, for tomorrow's ground is too uncertain. You help someone plant a garden instead of waiting for someone to bring you flowers. You learn that God has given you the strength to endure and that you really do have worth.

Footprints

One night a man had a dream. He dreamed that he was walking along the beach with the Lord. Across the sky flashed scenes from his life. For each scene, he noticed two sets of footprints in the sand: one belonging to him, and the other to the Lord.

When the last scene of his life flashed before him, he looked back at the footprints in the sand. He noticed that many times along the path of his life there was only one set of footprints. He also noticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in his life.

This really bothered him and he questioned the Lord about it. "Lord, You said that once I decided to follow You, You'd walk with me all the way. But I have noticed that during the most troublesome times in my life, there is only one set of footprints. I don't understand why when I needed You most You would leave me."

The Lord replied, "My son, My precious child, I love you and would never leave you. During your times of trial and suffering, when you see only one set of footprints, it was then that I carried you."

To My Very Good Friend

We have all had many friends throughout our lives, but only a few of those friends we would call good friends. That's because being a good friend involves time and understanding and love, which can be difficult to share with another . . .

When I think of my good friends, I always think about you, because that is what you have been to me. You have taken the time to be there when I needed you, and you have listened to me when my life was changing. You have always cared enough to try to understand my feelings and help me to understand myself. And, most important, your consideration and honesty have shown me that your friendship is true . . . symbolizing a very special kind of love that only a few friends ever share with one another. Thank you for being such a good friend to me, and for all the joys we have known together.

Valedictorian

April 27, 1991

Sister Lucille McKillop, Members of the Platform Committee, College Faculty and Staff, students, family, friends, and fellow members of the Class of 1991.

What to say or not to say, that is the question; whether tis fairer to bore you to tears or to confuse you with rhetoric . . . .

Actually it is a very intimidating thing being up here in front of you all · being honored as "Valedictorian", when I see many other faces out there whom I consider to be the top of the class.

I see other older returning students, who have had to juggle school, family, and work and they have succeeded.

I see other international students who have traveled a long and arduous path to be here with the class of 91, and they have succeeded.

I see other students who have had to struggle financially for four years to gather their education and I see many parents who have shared that burden. They succeeded.

I see other students who have grown firmly into adulthood in these past four years; students for whom it has been a time of new experiences and continuing growth, a time of laughter and tears . . . . and they too have succeeded.

Success . . . . a loaded word, for many people taking on a different meaning . . . .

A very important part of my education at Salve has been learning and understanding exactly what makes a man a success.

Success is not something that can be solely measured by material possessions, money or by what others think of you. Rather it is the measure you take for yourself. The successful man, the successful woman, has set his or her own goal. She has challenged herself. He has written his own script and set his own goals. Success becomes success only as each individual is ready to claim it. In my opinion every graduating member of the class of 1991 is a success! Congratulations!

Graduation, however, will not be the best or the biggest success you will embrace in your lifetime. In fact . . . success can not be found in one single event. There will be many successes and attempts at successes in the future.

There will also be times of disappointment, when you will have to rely only on faith. And don't ever loose your faith in yourself, because there will be many times of fear and confusion. This I can say from my heart, because I remember my very first semester at school.

I was in Panama at the time when I decided to go to college. I · was · terrified . . . studying in another language scared me and I was very brave as a took a heavy load that first semester · one course: English composition. But . . . although it was hard, I saw the challenge was with within myself. I knew I could do it . . . with some stress at times, but . . . I did it.

And I did it by taking one step at the time. And so we will all keep going on · one step at the time.

Our boats are small and the sea is enormous, but with conviction, faith and courage not only can we travel those tumoulsous waters safely, we can each make a difference.

As I have traveled through several countries and several cultures, I have found individuals who are making a difference, people who have joined their voice with others. In Panama, people stood up with their signs and brought a cruel dictator down . . . I witnessed this.

People making a difference · the black joining the white · the poor joining the rich · the gay joining the straight · the Catholic joining the Jews joining the Muslims — People Joining People to bring about change and get rid of cruelty and prejudice.

Well, I need to bring this speech to a conclusion. Were it that I was prolific enough to impart some great words that you could all reflect upon for years to come, but as it is, the English majors in the room will have to forgive me as I regenerate one of the world's most classic pieces of advice from Hamlet.

Give every man thine ear, but few thy voice:

Take each man's censure, but reserve thy judgment.

Be not expressed in fancy; rich, not gaudy:

For the apparel oft proclaims the man.

Neither a borrower nor a lender be,

For loan oft loses itself and friend,

And borrowing dulls the edge of husbandry.

This above all: to thine own self be true,

And it must follow, as the night the day,

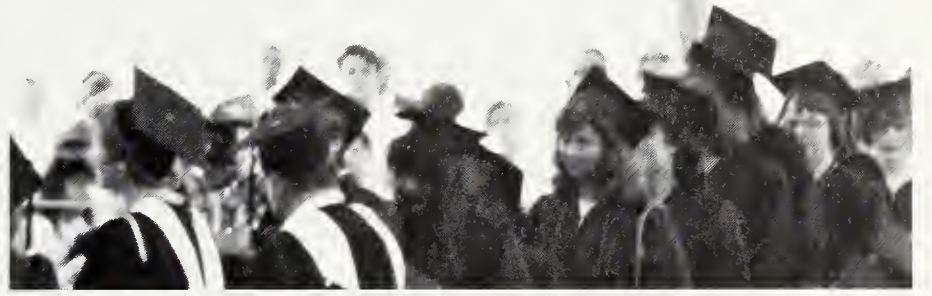

Thou can not then be false to any man.

I want to thank Brian for standing by me and helping me through some difficult times. I want to thank Pam for her belief in me always and I would like to thank especially Gregg, who has been my inspiration.

Salve Regina
Hail, O Holy Queen

Salve Regina Mater
misericordiae.
Vita, dulcedo. et spes nostra, salve.

Ad te clamamus, exsules,
filii Hevae.
Ad te suspiramus, gementes et flentes in hac lacrimarum valle.

Eia ergo, Advocata nos-

oculos ad nos converte.

Et Jesum, benedictum
fructum ventris tui, nobis post hoc exsilium ostende.

O clemens: O pia: o dulcis
Virgo Maria.

Congratulations To The Class Of 1991!!!

Dear Graduates of the Class of 1991:

When you first came to Salve, you were challenged to work towards becoming your best self. You all came from different geographical and social backgrounds to become part of the college community at Salve Regina. Perhaps you were scared, lonely, depressed . . . but you survived. Not only did you make it through those first few weeks of your freshman year, you successfully completed your sophomore, junior and senior years as well.

Remember going home for the that first Christmas break, you probably couldn't wait to go home, and then couldn't wait to come back . . . and why was that? Because in a few months you realized that your new college community was your "new" family and you wanted to come back to your "new" family.

Our time at Salve has been as Sr. Lucille McKillop has stated: "A time of fun and laughter, days cloudy and bright, the rigors of the classroom, the thrills of discovery, and the price of accomplishments. Your four years have been enriching relationships that distinguish a genuine community of caring and thoughtful young people (page 9)."

You have been molded by the Salve family of administrators, faculty, staff, and your fellow classmates. You have experienced and witnessed success and failure and most importantly the emotional, spiritual and intellectual maturity of yourself and your classmates.

As Marc Piers stated in his Valedictorian address, "Graduation, however, will not be the best nor the biggest success you will embrace in your lifetime. In fact, success can not be found in one single event. There will be many successes and attempts at successes in the future. There will be times of disappointment, when you will have to rely on faith. And don't ever lose faith in yourself, because there will be many times of fear and confusion."

You are a success and you will continue to succeed. You have proven yourself at Salve, and you will continue to prove yourself to the rest of the world as you pursue your dreams and meet new challenges in your life beyond Salve. As you embark upon your new life and career, remember that you take a part of Salve with you and the friends you made will be with you forever as will your memories of four wonderful growing years at Salve.

Good Luck!
Brian Holliday

Something's missing from your college days, but you can't put your finger on it?

Now you can.

You graduated without a college ring and never thought you'd miss it. But things are different now. Pride, success, achievement—everything symbolized by a college ring is more important to you than ever before.
Especially the memories.

Here's your chance to order the same college ring we made for your graduating class. For

A Graduation Message

To my husband:

You have given me the two most precious gifts of my life: our children and a college education. Throughout the last five years, I asked so much of you, but you never complained. When I was tired, you comforted me. When I wanted to give up, you gave me the strength to go on. When I did well, my accomplishments were mirrored in your smile. You, more than anyone else, have shared in this experience. Your constant love and support made my graduation day a dream come true. I love you, David.

To my three children:

I hope that my pursuit of academic excellence has taught you three things: first, that your father's support is a beautiful example of unselfish marital love; second, that a dream worth realizing is worth your best effort; third and most important, that only YOU are responsible for your successes and failures. As you attempt to achieve your goals in life, pray for patience and perseverance and, above all, be grateful for your family's loving support, just as I am grateful to you. I love you Susanne, David, and Danny.

To my mother:

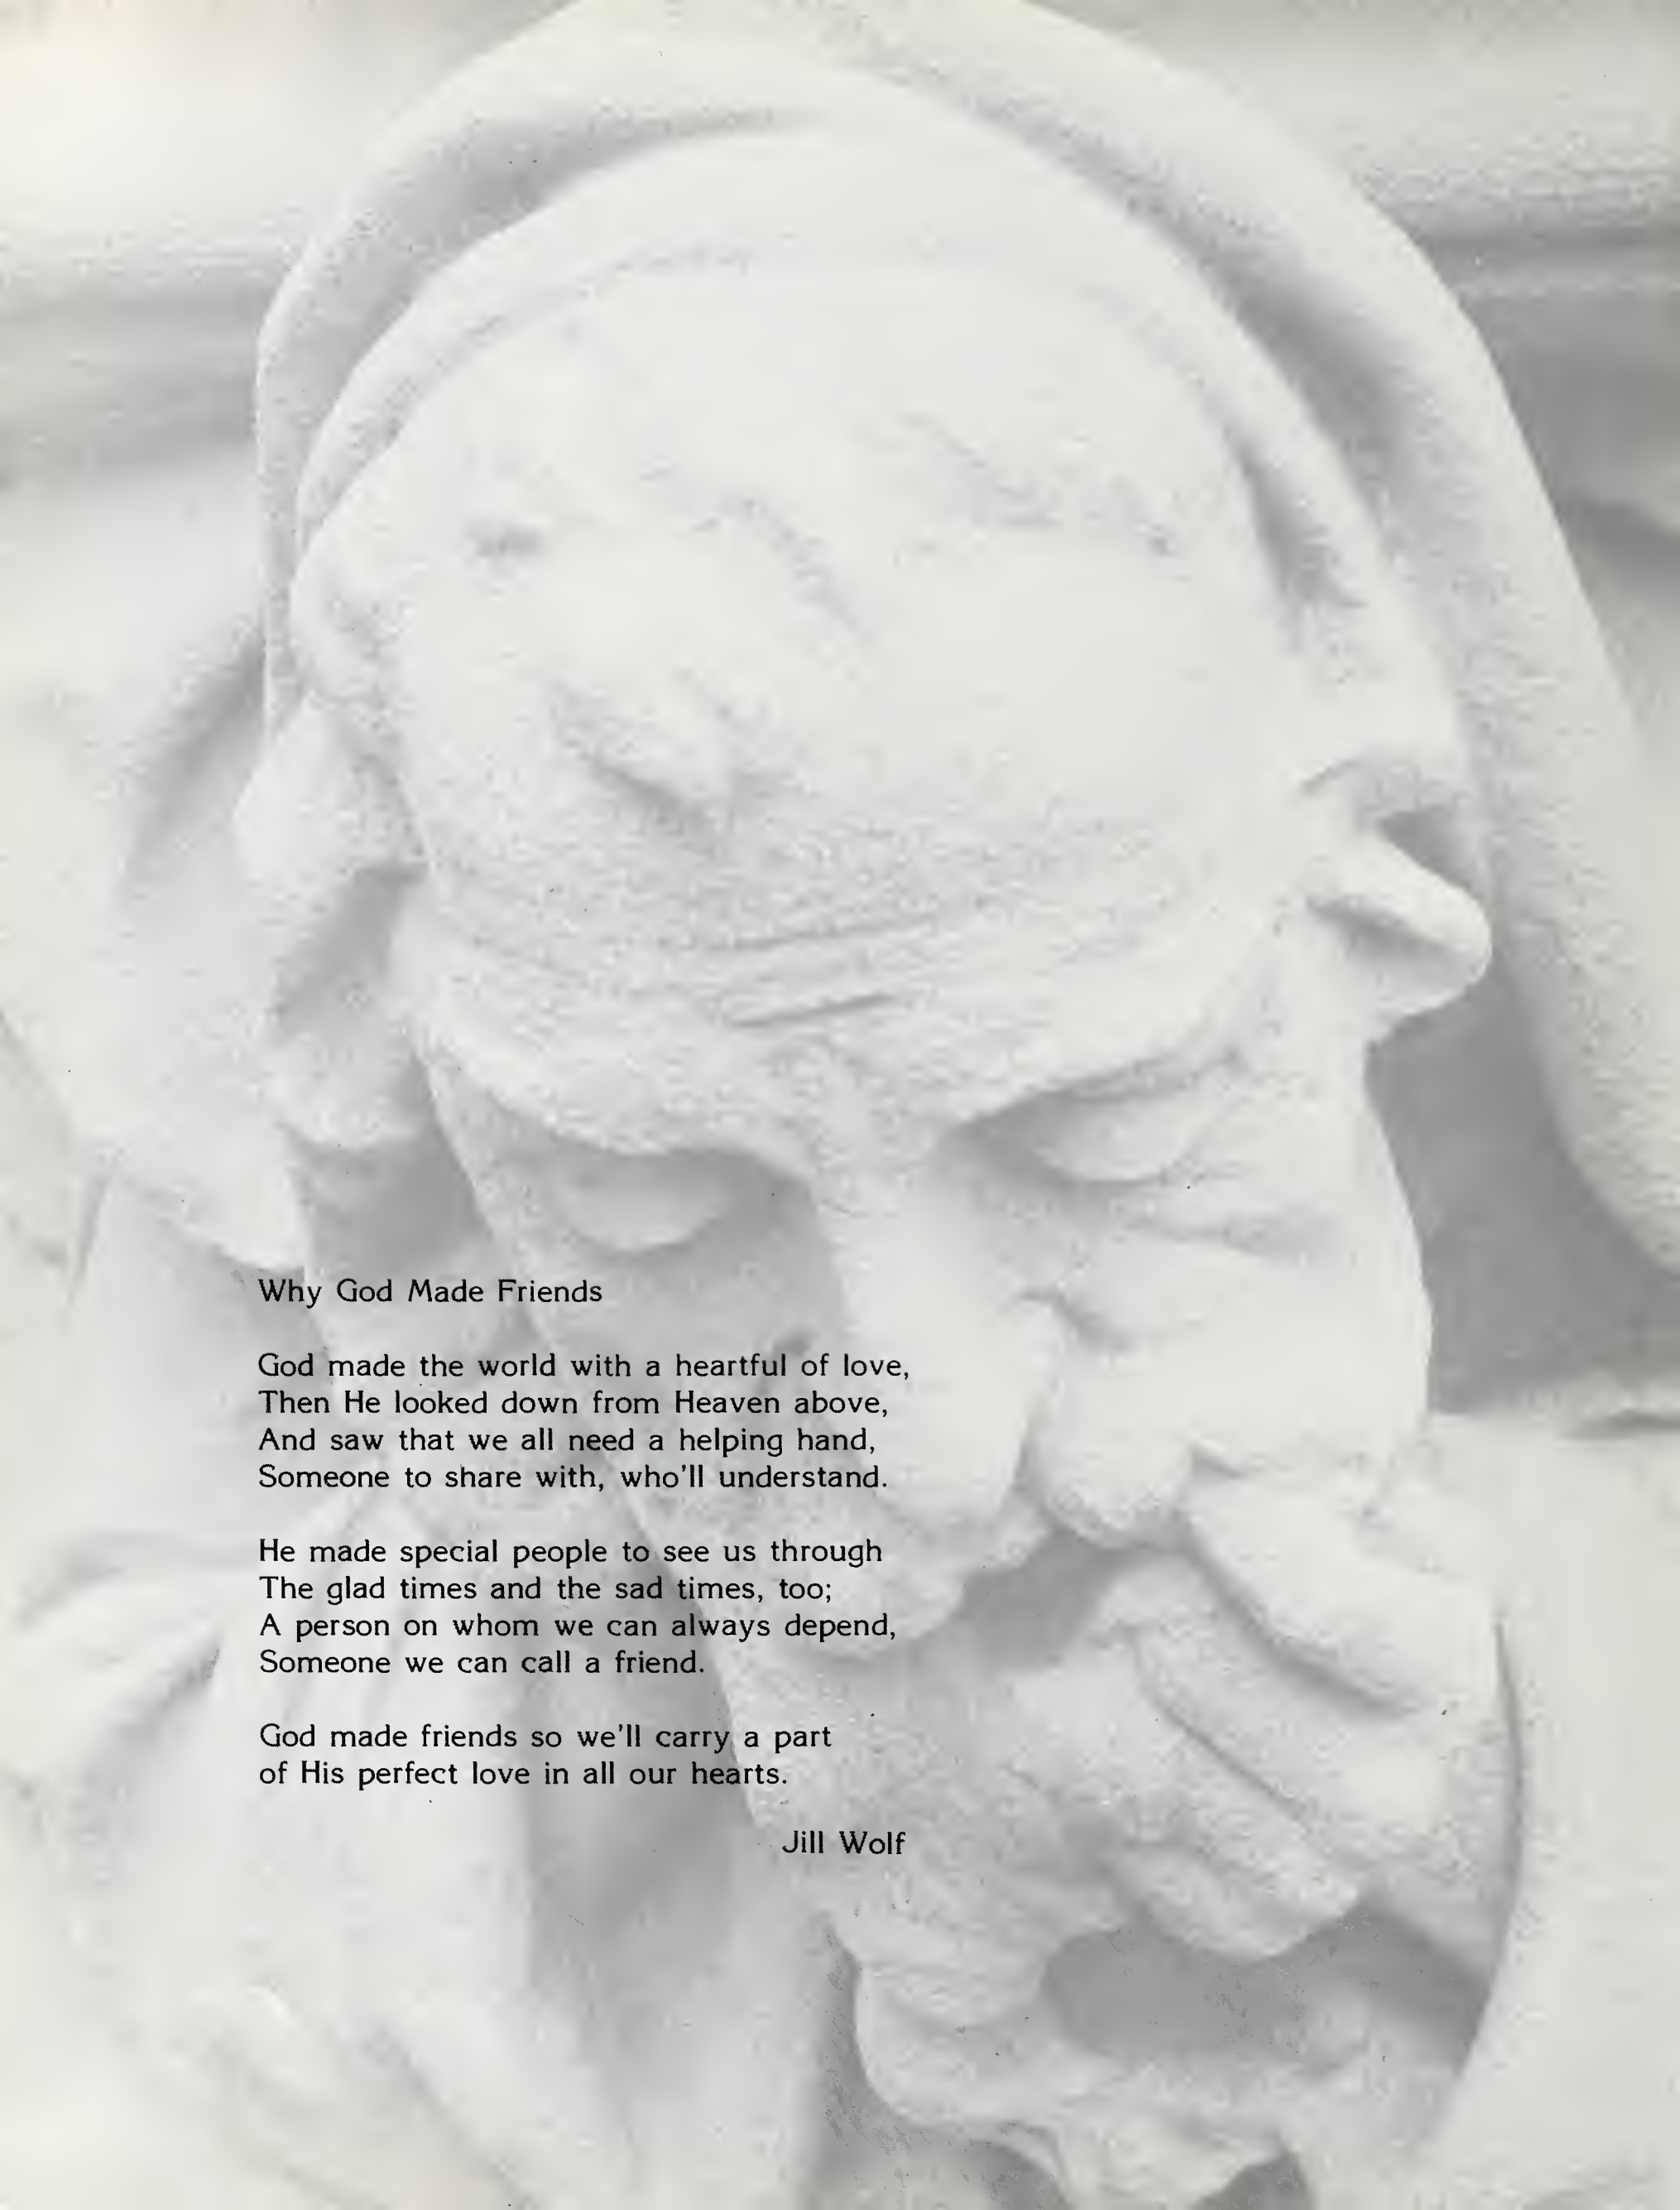

You are a perfect example of what "mother" really means. You have been with me every step of the way, sharing my triumphs as well as my disappointments. You always say that you have given me so little, but you have given me the best thing that any child could ask for - the gift of you. I love you, Mom. And I love you, Dad.

To the rest of my family, friends, and teachers at Salve:

For all that you are and all that you have given, you will always have a special place in my heart. I love you, and I am grateful to each and every one of you.

With all my love and gratitude,
L.M.

Why God Made Friends

God made the world with a heartful of love,
Then He looked down from Heaven above,
And saw that we all need a helping hand,
Someone to share with, who'll understand.

He made special people to see us through
The glad times and the sad times, too;
A person on whom we can always depend,
Someone we can call a friend.

God made friends so we'll carry a part of His perfect love in all our hearts.

Jill Wolf
